

June 19, 2013 PRESS RELEASE

Responding to Utility Emergencies Online (RTUE Online) is proud to announce that Michael Callan is the 2013 recipient of the John M. Eversole Lifetime Achievement Award.

The award was presented to Mike Callan on June 7th by the International Association of Fire Chiefs (IAFC) at the Hazardous Materials Response Teams Conference in Baltimore, Maryland.

The John M. Eversole Lifetime Achievement Award was established in 2007 by the IAFC to recognize a living individual who has had an exceptionally distinguished career in the field of hazardous-materials emergency response. It is presented annually to an individual who has distinguished herself or himself throughout her or his career by leadership and outstanding contributions to further and enhance the hazardous-materials emergency-response profession.

Mike Callan is a 40 year veteran of the Fire Service and a former Captain of the Wallingford, Connecticut Fire Department. He has delivered over 20 years of training in safety, fire suppression and hazardous materials, for fire departments and first responders. His classrooms have included everything from the back step of a fire truck to a five thousand seat auditorium. Curriculum he has developed has varied just as dramatically, from a single slide to a national program used in over 38 states.

Mike's body of work includes:

Responding to Utility Emergencies Online

Responding to Electrical Emergencies

Responding to Natural Gas Emergencies

Street Smart Haz Mat Response

Hazardous Material Exposure

Emergency Response and Patient Care
